LETTER OF COMMENT

Comments:

First they raise the property taxes more than inflation and more than my raises at work. Then Hydro Ottawa wants to raise its rates. Now Enbridge wants to raise the rates. The destruction of the middle class is not over yet my friends. You thought CO-VID was the end of the fight against the middle class and the inflation of groceries and other NECESSITIES was it. Nope. Enbridge needs to jump on board and drive the knife in deeper. As if we're not feeling it already. Don't do this. Things are already unaffordable as it is. I already spend over $500 a month on JUST utilities not including mortgage, insurance or property tax. It costs $2500 just to run the house on a 2020 mortgage 1.5. I make $3000 a month on a government salary. You do the math. We, the middle class, just seriously cannot afford any more cost hikes. They give me vacation at work... it's not like I'm going anywhere with it. Go talk to the government and have them ease up on the taxes, didn't you just get the carbon tax repealed?, and stop taking it out on the middle class. or better yet, be happy with your millions of dollars in profits.
