I do not agree with an additional 29% increase over the next few years.
We are at a point where everyone is price gouging people and this is another example. if you would like savings start from the top and lower salaries. (not from the workers who actually do the dangerous work) I will agree that pricing should be ubiquitous for all areas, but a 29% is too much. I also think that I pay a delivery charge the price of my usage is ridiculous. electricity should be a human right not for a corporation to make huge profits.
