I am writing to formally express my strong opposition to the recently proposed electricity rate increases for London Hydro customers.
Cost of living in London is already placing unprecedented financial pressure on households and an additional spike in essential services like these are not sustainable. Families and households across the the lower and middle class, as well as small businesses, are currently struggling to absorb the cumulative impacts of inflation. Adding a significant hike in basic electricity rates will only compound this burden, forcing many residents to make difficult choices between heating their homes and affording other basic necessities.
I urge the Board to critically evaluate the necessity of this hike and to vote with consideration of the impact this will have on residents, families, and small businesses.

Thank you.
