Revenues are up again in 2026, 6.5% increase to date in EPS ($1.96), so over half a billion dollars distributed to shareholders. With all of the other costs of living increasing and inflation increasing unabated, I think you can find other ways to reduce operating costs and not increase costs to residential consumers. Also, your press releases should include the bad news beyond 2028. Omitting the full truth is still lying.
