Appendix to my letter October 19th 2009

I neglected to mention that City officials appointed a Board of Directors to divide the generation from the distribution and form two corporations. The board is the same for both corporations.

For the first ninety years this utility was one entity with the directors elected by the people and the elected Mayor being a representative on the board.

It is extremely important that the O.E.B. look beyond the corporate vale to the true shareholders, the electrical customers. To permit one corporation to purposely operate with a loss and the second corporation to make huge profits which are directed away from the electrical customers must be recognized as consumer taxation.

In this, as in recent years, well over a million dollars per year have been redirected to the community (hospital, charity, City council etc.) Prior to this corporate division of the utility, once the old utility was debt free, the major portion of the excess profits was given as a dividend to its customers.

I believe that O.E.B. can order that the exiting rates be maintained with a portion of the generation profits used in part to support the distribution corporation's request. This is not a subsidy. The electrical consumers should not be made pawns in absorbing this rate increase.

Enclosed is a recent example of how some of the generation profits are presently given, none of which give any protection to the consumer.

dy council rise.) Prior to this corporate division Miles

This letter should be an appendix to the October 19th letter
