My husband and I very strongly oppose any increase in distribution rate increases. For some ridiculous reason we have 2 hydro meters on our property, one at the house and one out at the barn. We are already paying delivery charges as well as debt retirement charges on both meters and now you want to increase the delivery charge?? We will be subject to that increase twice over once again. Our bills are already astronomical through the winter months and my husband is now retired and on a fixed pension income. We can not afford any higher bills nor can our neighbours in this rural area where a lot of people farm for a living. If you want to be responsible for people being unable to pay their bills and losing their homes or having to go without necessities because of yet another increase then you obviously have no conscience.
