

From: jean at Gmail [REDACTED]
Sent: March-16-14 8:54 AM
To: BoardSec
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: Please Tell Enbridge to take a hike

Good morning,

I'll just cut to the chase – I am shocked with the prospect that Enbridge would dare ask for a WHAT!!! 40% increase in rates????? What are these people thinking??? As retiree, this Enbridge 40% pill is a pretty hard one to swallow. That is why I am writing to anyone and everyone that can make some noise about it. Where the hell is the Canadian Spirit among management at Enbridge, huh, or does that even exist in our gas industry???

Respectfully yours,
Jean Duplantie

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Saturday, March 15, 2014 9:27 AM
To: jean at Gmail
Subject: Re: Enbridge 40% hike???

Jean. It is hard to believe. I wonder how everyone will cope. Everything seems to be so costly right now. And you aren't alone complaining. Wish there was something we all could do. CA

Sent from my iPhone

On 2014-03-15, at 9:13 AM, "jean at Gmail" [REDACTED] wrote:

Hello Carol Anne,

I'm having a real hard time understanding how in any one in their right mind would ask for a 40% increase. Ask you boss and see what he/she says.
This is absolute ludicrous. I think opportunity knock for Enbridge to rake in some more money – blame it on mother nature. Man, corporations have become so transparent. As a retiree, I can accept some kind of an increase like 5% maybe 8% but 40%??? I really hope our illustrious Energy Board member do have some common sense and decency to counter with a more acceptable and reasonable alternative.

Regards,
Jean Duplantie

P.S. I also sure hope I'm not the only one complaining ☺