LETTER OF COMMENT

Comments:

I am interested in moving to Ontario, and have heard on the news that Enbridge is going to raise their natural gas by 40%. How can Ontario population afford to pay that price. I am a senior and my government pension is not going up by 40% to be able to pay. Enbridge has to apply to the Ontario Energy Board to be approved. What is the Board going to do about helping out the average Ontario Canadian. If this price increase goes through it is not beneficial for anyone to want to relocate to Ontario. Ontario's utilities are already higher than the other provinces to start with.
