

-----Original Message-----

From: corey swallow [REDACTED]

Sent: March-28-14 10:20 AM

To: BoardSec

Subject: Gas prices

I hope you at the OEB are happy with yourselves not only are ontarians paying some outrageous prices for hydro and gasoline now natural gas unfortunately isn't just affecting the average home owner but all tax payers as well now we have to pay more to heat the schools provincial building and government offices. Why as if I don't already pay enough taxes now there gonna want more why don't I just work my ass off and sign my entire pay over to the fucking corrupt government and I'll just live on the streets might have to soon the rate things are going. I understand the need to raise the rates but 40% come on is the government going to cut taxes to help people afford the hike no they will just take more when i get a raise to help pay for my bills. Sure most of you are on salary with paid sick days and all that good stuff you should come down here to the real world where if ya don't put in the hours you don't get paid sure most of you get a few weeks holidays more than the average persons 4% and that's more like 1 after our government gets there share thanks for reading and thanks for ass raping everyone have a great day