Dear Ms Walli:

Re: EB-2014-0195: Enbridge Gas Distribution
2013 Deferral and Variance Accounts

We represent Enbridge Gas Distribution Inc. (Enbridge, or the Company). In the Board's Notice of Application in this matter, issued last week, it is noted that Enbridge has proposed implementation of the clearance of 2013 account balances in the month of October 2014.

As noted within Enbridge's evidence (Approvals Requested, Exhibit A, Tab 3, Schedule 1), a Board Decision would be required by August 15th in order for the Company to facilitate the clearance of the account balances in conjunction with its October 1, 2014 QRAM proceeding.

The current timing of this proceeding contemplates that interventions are not due until the end of July. Thereafter, there will likely be a written interrogatory process (which typically takes several weeks), followed by a settlement conference and/or a hearing process (potentially in writing). Accordingly, it does not seem possible that the process to consider and determine Enbridge's Application can be completed by August 15, 2014.

In these circumstances, Enbridge believes that a change in the expected implementation date is appropriate, and is now planning to implement the Board's Decision in this case in conjunction with the January 1, 2015 QRAM proceeding. Should this cause any concerns, or if there are questions, please advise.

Yours very truly,

AIRD & BERLIS LLP
