Dear Mr. Long:

Re: wpd White Pines Wind Incorporated (“wpd White Pines”) Application for Leave to Construct Transmission Facilities
Board File No. EB-2013-0339

The pre-filed evidence in this case included System Impact Assessment (“SIA”) and Customer Impact Assessment (“CIA”) reports that were based on an earlier design utilizing a 69 kV overhead transmission line. wpd White Pines submitted that on July 24, 2013 it applied to the Independent Electricity System Operator (the “IESO”) for an amended SIA based on the use of the now proposed underground transmission line and that the IESO has advised that it will notify Hydro One Networks Inc. (“HONI”) in the event that an amendment to the CIA is required.

In its Argument in Chief, dated August 6, 2014, wpd White Pines advised that it now expects to receive an amended SIA in September 2014. wpd White Pines further submitted that the IESO will notify HONI in the event that an amendment to the CIA is required following completion of the amended SIA.

The conclusions and recommendations contained in SIA and CIA reports are significant determinative factors in leave to construct applications. The need for an amended SIA in this application is driven by a significant reconfiguration of the project and therefore the Board will not issue a decision in this case prior to White Pines' filing of the amended SIA report and CIA report (or verification from IESO/HONI that an amended CIA is not required).

Yours truly,
