To Whom It May Concern:

Please find below the response your email dated 2014-10-31. Below is a copy of the email:

“Good Afternoon Randy,

On page 5, section 10 of your application you’ve stated that you “are partners with Powered Connections Inc. leveraging their expertise and ability to service, install and support any sub-metering technical responsibilities...” According to the Board records this company is a licensed electricity retailer and gas marketer. Would you please provide some reasons why you would rely on a company not engaged in unit sub-metering business activities to acquire the necessary technical resources for technical matters related to unit sub-metering.

Thank you,
Irina Kuznetsova
Advisor,
Licensing and Performance Reporting”

Response:

Powered Connections has a division of its business activities that has performed installations and support for sub-metering in addition to their other corporate interests in the electricity retailer and gas market places.

They have provided these sub-meter services to customers for approximately 7 years and have established a network of resources that address the technical requirements of the sub-meter industry.

If there are any further questions or clarifications required, please do not hesitate to contact us. Please note that due to NDA and contractual agreements, we are unable to list those companies mentioned above without their explicit consent.

Best regards,

Randy Hann
