Wataynikaneyap Power LP applied to the Ontario Energy Board for approval to establish a deferral account to record costs incurred in relation to the development of the Wataynikaneyap Transmission Project starting August 26, 2016. The Wataynikaneyap Transmission Project includes the construction of a new electricity transmission line from Dryden/Ignace to Pickle Lake and related reinforcements and construction of lines extending north from Red Lake and Pickle Lake required to connect certain named remote First Nation communities.

The costs that Wataynikaneyap Power LP proposes to record in the deferral account relate to engineering, design, procurement, permitting and licencing, environmental and regulatory approvals, land rights acquisition, stakeholder consultation and Aboriginal engagement, interconnection studies, Aboriginal participation including formation of the applicant and its predecessor organizations and project management and administration. Notwithstanding the proposed August 26, 2016 start date for this account, Wataynikaneyap Power LP proposes to record costs incurred since September 2008. The costs tracked in this account will be recoverable if, in a future proceeding, the Ontario Energy Board determines that the costs were prudently incurred.

The Minister of Energy has informed the Ontario Energy Board that an Order-in-Council has been made declaring that the construction of the line to Pickle Lake and extending north from Red Lake and Pickle Lake to connect certain named remote First Nation communities to the provincial electricity grid are priority projects. As directed by the Minister of Energy, the Ontario Energy Board has amended Wataynikaneyap Power LP's electricity transmission licence to require that it undertake development work in relation to the line to Pickle Lake and the lines extending north from Red Lake and Pickle Lake.

The Order-in-Council and the Minister of Energy's Directive are available under the "Priority Transmission Projects" section on the Ontario Energy Board website.
