Is Hydro One completely out of touch with reality? Unfortunately as with any monopoly you don't have to look for ways to cut costs to save consumers money, just keep increasing rates. The overpaid, bloated administration of Hydro One should be the first area of cost cutting as well as anyone else on the Sunshine List, as the average private sector worker does not come close to that threshold. It seems rather ambiguous that we are asked to conserve energy, and when we do Hydro One asks for a rate increase instead of adjusting their costs of operation. To sum up, I strongly reject any price increase for Hydro One (other than inflationary), until they streamline their operation and become a viable and efficient energy provider.
