I am going to attempt to relay my message as simply as possible:

Get stuffed. You're killing anyone who doesn't live in the city with your outrageous delivery charges, and now you want to charge MORE for the power itself? It must be nice and warm in your ivory tower full of money. At this rate, I may have to sacrifice 90% of the devices in my house that use electricity just to get by...and I'll STILL have a triple digit delivery charge.

Thanks for your time, rich snobs.
Chad Robertson
