For some time now, I have felt the rising costs of electricity delivery to be unreasonable, in light of the fact that we have an overabundance of it in Ontario. I live in a rural area and I own a seasonal property near Sudbury, and the skyrocketing delivery rates to these areas makes me cringe. I am constantly trying to 'conserve', but I think it is a participatory pastime to keep the populace busy, so we won't react to the continual rise in delivery costs. I wish I could live 'off-grid', but I am also a realist.
