Being on a fixed income and living north of the 49th parallel I already pay too much for hydro (to name just one utility). There are at least 5 hydro generating dams/stations within a 100 miles of Cochrane so if anything we should be paying less for power that is generated from our local waters. I understand monies have to be put towards upkeep and or improvements to these stations but when you see the CEO of hydro being paid 4 million a year and every employee working at said dams with their own personal company vehicle one wonders what these increases are really for? We've hit the wall people and these continued increases to services has to stop
