We do not accept the right to increase costs of Natural Gas. More gas exists throughout North America than is needed, thus allowing export incomes to be achieved. The merging of two major suppliers must provide significant scale of economies, thus increasing both Gross and Net profit. It is up to their management to achieve these savings and enjoy the benefits without further cost increases which in our view are unacceptable. I believe approval for the merger would not have occurred if continuing price increases would be expected and the significant economies retained for the companies bottom line and not the clients and customers of Enbridge Gas Inc.

Thank you for your considerations
Cindy Goode
