On what planet does it seem reasonable to increase rates every 6 months for a service that is already abhorrently and inexplicably expensive? What possible justification does Enbridge have for this proposed increase? Have its directors tired of their 2018 Lamborghinis and want newer, nicer models?

Most Ontarians already struggle with their winter heating costs. The charges incurred are dubious at best - storage and delivery? Okay. Why stop there?

Why not charge for the property taxes of their corporate offices? Brenda in accounting's daily lunch tab?

NO TO THE INCREASE. How about effectively managing your employees and your company in order to deliver the best possible services WITH WHAT YOU ALREADY HAVE. It's called the cost of doing business. Stop lining your pockets with the hard-earned dollars of Ontario's working citizens because you don't know how to run a company. Unbelievable.
