I am AGAINST this raise in rates.

Firstly, we were notified Friday evening (June 28) of Canada Day weekend to have our say by Jul 2. Surely Alectra knew in plenty of time to notify its customers but chose a holiday weekend when as few people as possible would be at home to write in.

Secondly, they already get enough money from ambiguous claims as it is. On this latest bill, only 43.2% of my electricity portion is for actual electricity consumption. The remaining 56.8% is for Delivery and Regulatory charges. And I have my air conditioner running. If I didn't, they'd get an even bigger percentage. I have no interest in giving them more.
