Please deny the elimination of seasonal rates. As someone who only spends the weekends up north 6 mths of the year, if lucky. A rate increase is a big deal. The delivery charge alone when the electricity actually used is $0.00 for 6 mths of the year is enough to deal with. It would be an insult to increase the rate of electricity for the rest of the year when it is actually used. As for the delivery charge "power is ready for when you want it" and it "pays for the maintenance" Well there is a transformer box at the water's edge that every year is under water and the line going into the water is frayed.
