Hello,

It seems unfair and inaccurate to place the increase on seasonal dwelling's only. The amounts used and the number of users does not justify the increase.

Secondly we have done our utmost to be energy efficient yet we are being charged more. Thirdly we consistently have power outages at about 2-3 per month. Meanwhile nothing has changed in our power supply in the last 10 years, no upgrades or changes, which is fine but doesn't make sense to charge us more. I thought the OEB helped regulate the costs not consistently increase them. Reconsider please . Thanks
