My cottage is a seasonal residence and is scheduled to be re-classified as Low Density R2. This will cause an increase in my hydro bills. My property is a seasonal cottage which does not use any hydro from December to March. I feel that that cottagers who can demonstrate that their cottage is used only for 3 seasons (which can be easily reviewed by how much electricity was used from December to March) should be in their own category since they don't tax the system as much as cottagers who use it for four seasons.
Thank you.
