I am very concerned about Hydro One eliminating the Seasonal Rate class . We are on an island and have been informed that we will be switched to a residential low density class . This will result in a significant increase in our monthly bills . Yet I know some of the seasonal cottages on the mainland will be going into a residential medium density and may see a decrease in their bills .

I don't see any fairness to this , because we are more remote we are being punished !!!

Hoping this will be reviewed so that the difference in costs of hydro from low to medium density won't be so drastic !!!
