The cancellation of the Seasonal Classification where half the customers are being reclassified R1 and the other half R2, with the expectation that the R2 half will be required to pay up to 100% more is beyond comprehension. This increase is huge. How the provincial government has not stepped in is a question that should be asked! The Conservatives promised to lower electrical rates. Yet, here we are with this money grab.

The service both R1 and R2 customers will receive, will still remain the same.

So what logic is there in this move?

The OEB report is a brilliant work of obfuscation that would tie up any Legal Team attempting to put it into plain language. But when that report is deciphered, the bottom line sticks out, that the OEB wants more money. And so the R2 customer is shafted.

One question remains. After this money grab, what will the next money grab be?
