Hydro One sent me a letter indicating that I will be moved into seasonal low density rates, this means 100% increase in my bill.

I used Google Earth and found that in immediate 1/5 of square km there are at least 120 properties, which at the very least should be classified as medium density according to info on '<https://www.hydroone.com/rates-and-billing/density-review-and-service-type-information>'

Hydro One is fixated on extracting additional money from customers and fudging the facts.

Reasonable rate increases could be understood, but rush to floor customers with 100% bill hikes is really low.
