Although I understand that infrastructure will always be in need of updates, I just feel like the timing of this is poor.

Number 1 is we are still in a global pandemic impacting economics and people's income.

Why not look for more efficient ways of spending money? Since moving into an area where hydro one is the electricity supplier I have been blown away by how much more your rates are compared to our previous municipalities supplier (nearly double). Why as the provincial supplier of electricity can you not balance your books enough to have maintenance and operating costs covered?
