Regarding: eb-2022-0200

I do not feel an increase, at this time, is the right thing for Canadians.

While the costs of 'doing business' has increased for companies across the board, and is understandable, the fundamental rights of Canadians to have access to affordable energy to maintain the basic standard of living in this country should remain the priority. When Canadians are prospering, companies can take advantage of it at that time, but right now isn't that time. Please do not allow for an increase in prices at this time.
