I am very concerned about the proposal submitted by Enbridge to increase fees starting 2024. The price of everything has skyrocketed in the last year and it's difficult for people to keep up especially those who are retired.

I think the cost of gas distribution should be reconfigured to reflect the size of the house and use of gas. Why should I be paying the same distribution fees in a 1600 sq ft townhouse as the 3,000 sq ft houses?
Doesn't it make sense that the more you use gas the more you should pay for it being delivered?

Please reconsider the increase as well as consider the cost for those people that have smaller footprints and use less gas.

Thank you

Linda Brentnall
