It is quite disturbing to see a huge increase being proposed by Enbridge Gas upon consumers. Gas and petroleum product prices have rampantly increased by the greed of rich and powerful in recent times, which has compounded increase in every daily use commodity causing huge inflation. Heating, water and electricity are basic amenities and rights of citizens and corporations must not be allowed to use this as a tool for profit mongering. These are basic needs of every citizen rich and poor. It is furthermore baffling to see that they have proposed a decrease in the cost for businesses and corporations, while increasing the cost for residential customers. This is yet again a glaring example of corporate greed with hand in glove approach of I scratch your back and you scratch mine. It is the common man who has to bear the brunt of all cost increases and is not acceptable to us. The government and the OEB must hold these corporations accountable to protect the interest of citizens, so their already difficult life does not become miserable. I strongly oppose the increase of price on residential customers and corporate greed of businesses making profit at our expense.
