Dear Sir or Madam,

As a single female with dependents, I found it difficult to stomach that my home natural gas bill has tripled in the last year. Now I am sick to learn that Enbridge is asking for another rate increase in Jan 2023. I also fail to understand why they are asking for this as a simple Google search reveals that this company made almost 7 billion dollars in revenue during the third quarter of 2022 alone. Continuous rate increases such as this will force customers to choose between putting food on the table or heating their home.

I know I am not alone in this, although I doubt any comments made here will make any difference in the outcome of the OEB's decision.

Kind regards,
Aline Fiebig
