Please be advised that the increase in gas services has it's ripple effects for all consumers. Based on current inflation rates, Carbon Tax and Goods and Service Tax will make energy a concern for lower class and middle class consumers especially for pensioners.

Energy is a necessity not a luxury which governments and corporations seem to overlook.

Yes I do understand shareholders and profitability side of it.

Until a new government stops the Carbon Tax farce and eliminates the Goods and Service tax on energy I would consider with holding any increases until the economy changes.

Best Regards,
Frank Narejko
