To whom it concerns,

At a time when millions of people in Ontario are on the brink of poverty. The average or I should say the majority of people in Canada are living pay check to pay check and with increases in all matters of financial burdens from fuel for driving, food prices to feed families, clothing etc they can not afford another increase in their bills. Gas companies are trillion dollar companies they do not need the money made by these imposed increases. They already rob the average user by over estimating bills and meter reading and charging outrageous fees for everything related to it from delivery to carbon etc. They rob the homes using gas by over estimating bills and not refunding over payments. They already force people for hundreds a month to heat a home making people choose between heat and food. A large number of this is done again by estimating charges and charging people on those estimates and not actual usage.

These companies do not need to gouge families any more. There is zero need other than greed for increase rates.

These increases will be felt all around from home costs to increased costs on everything as companies pay more for all gas related needs and transport. These costs will trickle to the already struggling working class.

Enbridge and union gas have no legitimate need to increase rates other than lining the pockets of elites and making the working class move to poverty class. At a time in the world where every dime counts in the hands of the normal person, this is unjust and pure greed. They make enough profit as is, trillion dollar businesses.

Line the pockets of Canadians not cooperations out for greed!
