In an era where Ontario is sold under our noses - for example, to developers, and to others with money interests, through unilateral moves, power grabs and various bills - especially Bill 23 and 48, making renters already vulnerable in a time of a housing crisis, increasing utility costs would only exacerbate the vulnerable. Every additional cost will trickle down to renters and the vulnerable. For what purpose? In service of ensuring CEOs keep making $5K an hour? Yes, I understand that gas rates have increased, but the increase passed onto the consumer needs to be that high??? Allowing this rate increase will only advance the oligopoly, and the suffering related to it. Please consider these factors. Perhaps the OEB would consider the broader picture - the one where one decision impacts many more sectors, and society as a whole.
