I cannot believe the direction of this country in the name of "inflation". It seems to be party everyone wants to join. Stick it to the people and let them pay for government printing money faster than you can blink. THIS IS DENIED. Considering where we live and most homes are gas heated it's ABSOLUTELY NOT. You can't always turn to the very people who fund you to put out your fires. Instead reach out to PM of this country and ask him what you should do because he caused this situation and he should sort it out without turning to Central Bank and without sticking small business and families with the bill. No increase of any kind. No turning for relief either as we would end up paying it through other means and directly through you over time. Sorry investors- turn elsewhere for your gains.
