This is preposterous! People are struggling to feed their families and they're propsoing to increase the cost of a basic necessity as a Canadian, to heat their home. Implementing this cost increase at the point of an expected recession as well! And proposing a plan to continue to increase the cost anually over the following 4 years!? This is absolutely ridiculous. But what am I to do when it's a monopoly anyways. There's no price shopping, or market competition. I see little to no mention of any infastucture investment in any of all this for any future relief either.
