I am shocked at the short timeline available to submit comments on this application. It is November 21, 2022 and the comment deadline is December 2, 2022. This is less than 2 weeks (9 business days including today).

The process should be far more transparent and allowing time for respondents to conduct some research and submit input/comments.

In short, the Applicant has significant wealth from their existing business and investors' income.

End users, for the most part have been and will be facing shortfalls in their income. An increase will likely cause negative financial pressure. The supply and distribution of natural gas is an essential service. This application should be viewed as unacceptable and subsequently should be declined.
