Regarding OEB case EB-2022-0200,

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this comment to express my concern for the proposed rate increase by Enbridge and its impact on Ontario residents. As the economy continues to recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, many Canadians are facing tough financial times and increased pressure on their wallets and budgets.

Within the last 2 years, Enbridge has seen a stock price increase of 50% while many Canadians face the largest rise in cost of living since the 2008 financial crisis. I personally have seen my heating costs rise 76% this year despite installing a new ultra-high-efficiency furnace and keeping my thermostat turned down.

Heating a home should not be another avenue for large companies to rake-in profits at the expense of Canadians. I would ask the OEB to decline this proposed price increase and put the financial needs of our citizens above the greed and profits of this multi-billion dollar company.

Thank you.
