I am a customer of Enbridge Gas - formerly Union Gas in the Wilmot area of Ontario. I received an email where we could send in our comments about possible rate increases. Although I know that rate increases are normal, my concern is about how much ??? As people are on a fixed income and possibly going into a recession; it is going to take some time for people to recoup from this. We all know that increase in wages are not in line with utility increases. Since our Gov't is not willing to use our Canadian resources and out source, then why should we have to suffer ? We as Ontarians and Canadians have to speak up in any way we can to be able to live. I noticed that there might be decreases, so compromise and only increase a little so people can live with inflation.
