I am a single parent homeowner in Toronto.
I am a "middle class" employee of the government.
Rates are high enough as is please leave them alone.
As far as I know, Enbridge is my only option for gas service so I don't have a choice as a consumer.
I already keep the thermostat at 18°C to keep my costs as low as I can.

No! Enough raising consumer costs and NO to exposing us to more corporate interests. Public utilities should be owned by the public and be looking out for the public. That includes keeping consumer costs as low as possible.

You should not even be entertaining these requests.
