LETTER OF COMMENT

Comments:

I saw the application for an increase in rates to cover the cost of implementing the government cap and trade. I do not claim to understand the logic or decipher any of the many pages of their application nor the logic behind the cap and trade tax since I do not believe it will make any difference to the environment if China and the US do not do the same.

I do know that as a pensioner the increase cost plus HST will make a major hit to our monthly bills and that was before this application. Now if approved that would be another cost increase plus HST so we are really being sold a bill of goods on how it will impact the tax payer.

The gas company already makes sufficient profits and if they have an issue go to the government and speak up but they should not be able to go to the Energy Board and expect to get approval for a double hit on the tax payers.
