SUMMARY

Scott, one of Canada's leading energy experts and end-user consultants, is well versed in all facets of Ontario's electricity and natural gas sectors. He has been a trusted and highly regarded advisor to private and public sector clients for decades.

His breadth of experience ranges from generation, distribution, transmission and supply companies through to energy procurement, operations and price risk mitigation management. Over the years, Scott has accumulated a wealth of expertise and intimate first-hand knowledge. Scott thoroughly knows what influences the energy markets, not only in Ontario but across Canada. He was a pioneer in the early development of both Alberta's and Ontario's first commercial electricity contracts between major consumers and major suppliers, including facilitating innumerable major institutions' first forays into energy contracting. He has developed and pioneered formalized risk management policies, procedures and practices for the energy agency and procurement consulting industry. His involvement in provincial regulatory activities are well known to the Ontario Energy Board and also includes exposure to the Canadian Energy Regulator, as party to a successful 1990's Canada/US high-voltage transmission Application. Summarily, he has incomparable experience in supply, generation, transportation, distribution, regulatory, customer service and commodity procurement.
