Dear Ms. Marconi:

Re: EB-2024-0167: Red Jar Niagara Power Company (RJNPC) – Application for Electricity Transmission Licence.

Withdrawal of Request for Confidential Treatment.

Under cover of our letter dated May 6, 2024, delivered to the Board on May 7, 2024, we submitted our Application for an Electricity Transmission Licence (RJNPC Application). The RJNPC Application is for a licence in connection with a transmission line proposed to support the electrification needs of a single customer. In our letter we noted that the location of that customer's facility had not yet been publicly announced, and that pending such announcement we were seeking confidential treatment of the customer's identity, given the customer's ongoing negotiations and carefully timed corporate public disclosure program. Our specific request was for confidential treatment of information reflected in proposed redactions to the response provided in Item 13 of Section B of the RJNPC Application. Our request was in addition to the confidential treatment normally accorded the application information provided in response to Item 10 of Section B of the Board's Application for Electricity Transmission Licence form.

As the OEB may be aware from public statements made in the last few days related to the significant Honda motors Ontario EV investment program, the load customer - Asahi Kasei - has now publicly announced the location of its project in Port Colborne. Accordingly, there is no longer any requirement for retaining the previously redacted information included in Item 13 of Section B of the RJNPC Application in confidence, and we are now able to withdraw that confidentiality request. We do assume continued confidential treatment normally accorded the information provided in response to Item 10 of Section B of the Board's application form.

We remain pleased and excited to be involved with this very important project and look forward to determination by the Board of our transmission licence application.
