

-- Name --

Matt M

-- Do you reside in the impacted service area? -- Yes

-- Comments --

It's always disconcerting to see essential cost-of-living prices hike without any discernable improvement to what's actually being done. At a few dollars more, my biggest concern would remain that the cost of delivery seems relatively enormous, but looking at a hike over 10%, I'd sure like to see some reliable assurance or means of having the cost drop in the future. It's not like hydro is optional for most people.