During a time where cost of living is at an all time high, I deeply disagree with any corporate proposal to push off costs (carbon pricing) or otherwise onto consumers. Consumers, particularly those in and north of Peterborough, pay a premium for energy. I would strongly urge oversight committees to thoughtfully consider how their decisions regarding corporate financial policy impact the quality of life of those who have no choice over their utility service provider. This will place an unnecessary burden on Canadians. Corporations should pay their taxes just as everyone else does.
