

LETTER OF COMMENT

Comments:

I was deeply dismayed to receive the notice of Enbridge's proposed natural gas rate change. Not only was the initial notice difficult to decipher, the proposed increase to more than 2x the current rate charged to consumers was frankly shocking. It is a slap in the face to everyone who is struggling with the sky-high cost of living right now. This rate change will double the heating bill of Canadian families overnight during the coldest time of year, when everyone is relying on their furnaces to heat their homes through the winter. This is going to put undue financial strain on millions of Canadians during a time when people are already living on a razor's edge. I urge the OEB not to allow this rate hike to occur, and to keep the needs of the Canadian people at the forefront.
