

LETTER OF COMMENT

Comments:

I am writing as a concerned consumer to strongly oppose Enbridge's recent application to increase natural gas prices. Families across Ontario are already struggling with the rising costs of housing, food, and utilities. Adding another increase to natural gas bills will put even more pressure on households and small businesses. Enbridge has continued to report strong revenues, and yet consumers are being asked to shoulder higher costs in a time when affordability is already at crisis levels. Energy is an essential service — not a luxury — and many Ontarians will be forced to make difficult choices between heating their homes and other basic necessities if this increase is approved. I urge the Ontario Energy Board to reject this application. Protecting consumers from unnecessary and unfair rate hikes should remain a top priority, especially during this period of economic hardship. Thank you for considering the voices of everyday Ontarians like myself.
