I have recently received notification and was taken aback by London Hydro's proposed rate increase, particularly given that the cost of living is presently quite high.

Furthermore, what rationale supports the proposed increase to $6.01 per month, especially considering that rates were elevated in the preceding years as well?

Is London Hydro operating at a financial deficit?

Are there critical infrastructure upgrades requiring immediate implementation? If so, why cannot London Hydro allocate existing savings toward these expenditures?

Should a rate adjustment prove necessary, I would recommend a more modest increase of $2-3 per month.
