I am a residential customer writing to strongly object to InnPower's application (Case File: EB-2026-0052) to increase electricity distribution rates. InnPower originally committed to a rate plan lasting until 2029. Breaking that timeline to force an early rate increase in 2027 is unfair to local residents who are already managing high everyday living costs. Regular households should not have to pay higher monthly bills early just to cover the utility company's future corporate investments. I urge the Ontario Energy Board to protect consumers and reject this early rate hike.
